3. DISCUSSION ON RENEWABLE ENERGY ALTERNATIVES FOR THE CITY OF STILLWATER

Deputy City Manager Dan Blankenship stated that the Stillwater Utility Authority's mission is to ensure the sustainability of the utility and sustain the utility's support of the community. During discussion, Mr. Blankenship and City Council focused on what the Stillwater Utility Authority (SUA) is doing to accomplish its mission, concerns the Stillwater City Council has regarding the future of the electric utility, how the SUA can respond to the concerns expressed by City Council and the obstacles to providing diversified resources. CEC CEO David Swank spoke regarding the solar microgrid CEC has built to serve its facility. Mr. Blankenship spoke about the automated metering infrastructure proposals being evaluated by staff. Vice Mayor Darlington expressed a desire to partner with the citizens who wish to go off the grid and do what is best for the citizens of our community. Councilor Zannotti stated the need to protect the SUA's customers. Councilor Wedlake stated the goal is to provide adequate power at the lowest cost to the citizens of Stillwater. Councilor Joyce said he believes we need to offer the kind of power and services the customers want to have, but not take risks with the SUA's funds. At the request of Vice Mayor Darlington, Mr. Blankenship will provide the percentage of industrial customers to City Council and begin talking to the industrial customers about their future energy plans.
